

MAXINE HOWE
... Cooks in Costume

Herald Cooking School to Be Costume Series

Again the Herald cooperates with the Modern School of Gas Cookery to bring local homemakers the latest of its unique productions. This year the theme will be "I Remember Mama's Cooking."

The place: Civic Auditorium, 1349 El Prado. Dates and time: May 14 and 15, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Maxine Howe, graduate home economist trained in the home service department of Southern California Gas Company, has conducted cooking classes for the past ten years in Southern California. Her flair for fine cookery, her knowledge of automatic appliances and how to use them, added to her showmanship, result in worthwhile sessions every homemaker can appreciate.

To make the classes entertaining as well as educational, her assistant and John Mallonee, master of ceremonies, will dress in costumes of the 1910 period and her cookery demonstrations will follow recipes of those days with "Family Style Meal of the Midwest" and "After Church Chicken Dinner."

Homemakers are being alerted now so they may plan to attend both classes.

2500 Optimists Expected at Club Convention

The 40,000 men known as "Friend of the Boy" are sending an estimated 2500 representatives to Washington, D.C. for the 35th annual convention of the Optimist International on June 17-20, according to Forrest W. Meyers, president of the Torrance club.

Increased activity in development of new Optimist Clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, and Cuba, as well as added stress on boys' work projects among the individual clubs will occupy the spotlight at the convention, Meyers quoted J. Warren Day, president of Optimist International.

Scheduled to take place during the convention are the finals of the annual Optimist oratorical contest for boys, theme of which is "Optimism—the faith that leads to achievement." Preliminary contests are now being staged throughout each district.

A review of boys' work activities being prepared for the convention will show that $1,500,000 has been spent on boys' work during the past year, Meyers said.

Selection of delegates from the Torrance club has not been completed, he said.
